

We all have so much to be thankful for! Sending you and your family a harvest of blessings this Thanksgiving

Dear AIPNO Family and Friends,

On behalf of the BOT and executive committee, I want to wish you a very Happy Thanksgiving. This year has been challenging and one like no other. I pray for the safety and prosperity for all the members. Our forefront AIPNO physicians who risk their personal safety to serve, protect, and care for those affected by the pandemic.

Being alert, sensitive, understanding and poised- we can face this situation. Circumstances cannot overcome or overwhelm a strong-minded person.

As we downsize, right size or celebrate Thanksgiving virtually, I encourage all of us to be grateful for those things we often take for granted—health, friends, family, and love. Wishing you a happy and safe time of thanks.
